

[L1]
o Introduction:-

"Communication is an activity of conveying the information from encoder to decoder."

① Communication is the meaningful exchange of information b/w two or more participants.

② In every communication common language should be used for better understanding of decoder.

③ In communication process sender sends a message by any medium/channel & receiver receives it.