

INTERJECTION

INLEK1ECTION

is a word or expression that occurs as an utterance on its own and expresses a spontaneous feeling or reaction

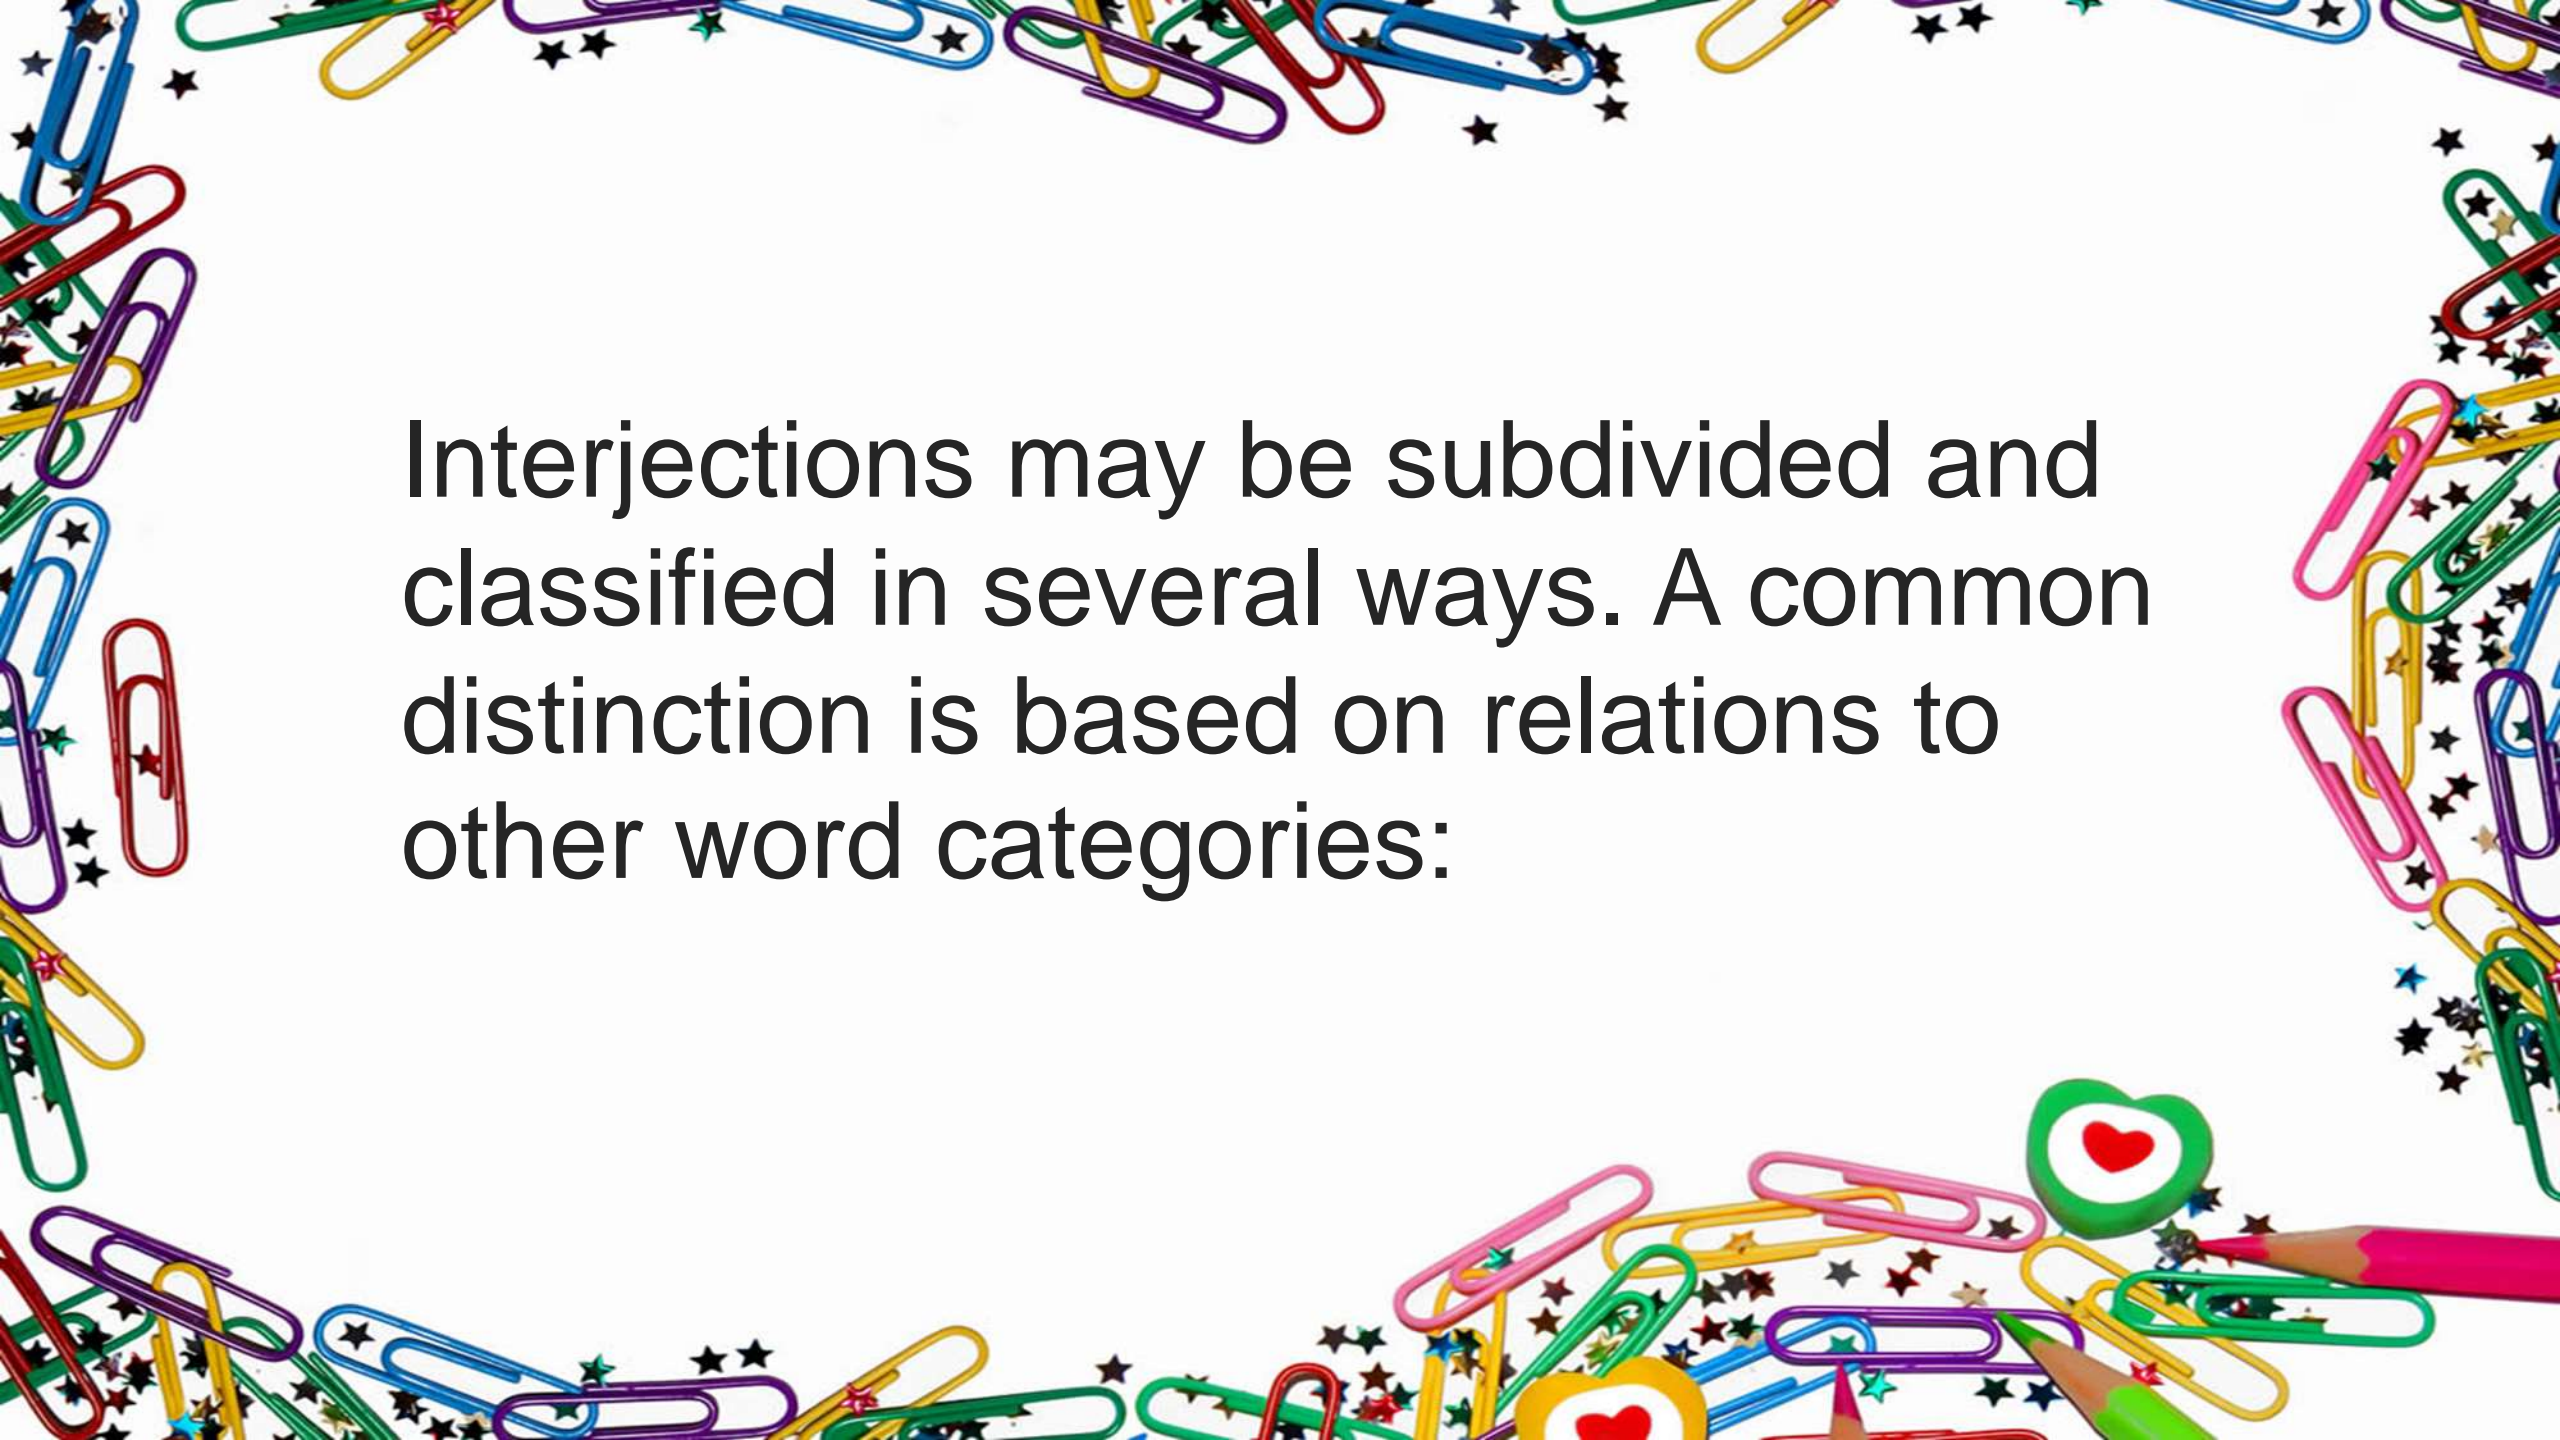

The category is quite heterogenous, and includes such things as exclamations (ouch!, wow!), curses (damn!), greetings (hey,bye),

A decorative border surrounds the text, consisting of various colored paper clips (blue, red, yellow, green, purple, pink) and small black stars scattered along the edges.

response particles (okay, oh!, m-hm, huh?),

and hesitation markers (uh, er, um).

The image features a central text block surrounded by a decorative border. The border is composed of numerous colorful paper clips in shades of blue, red, yellow, green, and purple, interspersed with small black stars. In the bottom right corner, there are additional elements: a green heart-shaped paper clip with a red heart inside, a yellow heart-shaped paper clip with a red heart inside, and a pink pencil pointing towards the center.

Interjections may be subdivided and classified in several ways. A common distinction is based on relations to other word categories:

primary interjections are interjections first and foremost (examples: Oops., Ouch!, Huh?),

while secondary interjections are words from other categories that come to be used as interjections in virtue of their meaning (examples: Damn!, Hell!)

Another distinction based on form is between interjections that are single words ('Oh!', 'Wow!') versus those that are phrases ('sup!' from 'What's up?', 'Excuse me!', 'Oh dear!').

A decorative border surrounds the text, featuring a variety of colorful paper clips (blue, red, yellow, green, purple, pink) and small black stars. In the bottom right corner, there are also two heart-shaped paper clips (one green, one yellow) and two colored pencils (one pink, one green).

Further distinctions can be made based on function. Exclamations and curses are primarily about giving expression to private feelings or emotions, while response particles and hesitation markers are primarily directed at managing the flow of social interaction
