COURSE DESCRIPTION/OBJECTIVE

This course deals with the ways in which strategic thinking can be applied to Human Resource Management in organizations. It aims to provide students with opportunities to bend managerial strategy issues with HRM processes, in a considered and reflective manner. Strategic Human Resource Management (SHRM) considers questions such as: What does it mean to be a HR professional? How can we integrate HR concerns into organizational decisions and strategies? The course focuses on the way strategies can be formed and enacted in organizations, and on the internal and external environmental contexts from which human resource strategies emerge. It aims to introduce strategic human resource management as a new way of thinking about organizations and their stakeholders.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

At the end of the course the students should be able to:

1. Define and understand the concept of strategic human resource management.
2. Identify the different techniques, tools and models for the formulation of strategies.
3. Be able to evaluate the strengths and weaknesses of SHRM practices across contexts.
4. To analyze and understand how to work collaboratively to complete the tasks.
5. Be able to communicate theoretically sound and practical recommendation in a structured manner.
